Romain Gary - Wikipedia

In 1975, Romain Gary, was a glamorous well-known, but ageing Prix Goncourt winning author. Gary craved a new start and decided to publish a novel under the assumed name Émile Ajar. The Life Before Us went on to win the Prix Goncourt, the second time for Gary, in principle impossible as it can only be won once. To put a face to the pseudonym, he enlisted the help of a relative who claimed to be mentally ill and living in an asylum.

Generally I don't like reading books written in the first person, especially when the voice of the novel is that of a child. However, an exception is happily made for "The Life Before Us" ("Madame Rosa"). It was originally published in France as "La Vie Devant Soi," with authorship to Gary's pseudonym, Emile Ajar. The translation is first-rate.
